School district ponders how to handle weather days

STANFORD — With much of the worst winter weather now over, Lincoln school officials face the task of deciding how the school calendar will be adjusted — or not — due to the large number of weather days taken this year.

But making that decision is complicated by the state legislature, which is considering multiple bills that would offer some form of weather-day forgiveness.

“There are a lot of different bills on the table right now,” said Bruce Smith, a district administrator who manages the school calendar.

One bill would give up to 10 days of weather-day forgiveness for each Kentucky school district. Another would allow districts to request disaster days from the state if they missed more days than their original number of scheduled makeup days, Smith said.

IJ INVESTIGATES

Stanford EMS handling big increase in call volume

Editor's note: this is the second part of a special report from The Interior Journal on growing workloads for emergency responders.

By Ben Kleppinger
ben@theinteriorjournal.com

STANFORD — Workloads for ambulance services in Lincoln County have increased by almost 47 percent over the past five years, an IJ analysis of 911 call center data shows.

A vast majority of the additional workload has been handled by Stanford EMS, which responded to 1,518 more calls in 2013 than it did in 2009 — an 83.3-percent increase, according to the data.

Lincoln County's other ambulance services — Waynesburg Area Rescue Squad, West End EMS, East End EMS and the currently out-of-commission McKinney Area Rescue Squad — combined to respond to 113 more calls in 2013 than they did in 2009.

While Stanford EMS saw an increase in call volume during each of the past five years, that trend is less visible for the four smaller ambulance services, which saw decreases in call volumes in some years.

Stanford EMS Director Ashley Powell said he was aware of the increasing workload for his organization, but wasn't expecting the numbers to show such a drastic rise.

The increase in workload has been reflected in Stanford EMS' staffing levels, Powell said. Prior to 2009, Stanford EMS ran two ambulance crews during the day and had three people on the clock — an EMT and a two-person basic-life-support team — during the night.

In more recent years, Stanford EMS has been keeping two advanced-life-support teams on the clock 24/7, and has occasionally added an extra basic-life-support team, as well, Powell said.

Health insurance deadline approaching

More than 2,000 in Lincoln still uninsured

By Ben Kleppinger

STANFORD — The March 31 deadline to sign up for health insurance under the Affordable Care Act is less than two weeks away, but as of mid-March, there were still more than 2,000 Lincoln County residents who remained uninsured.

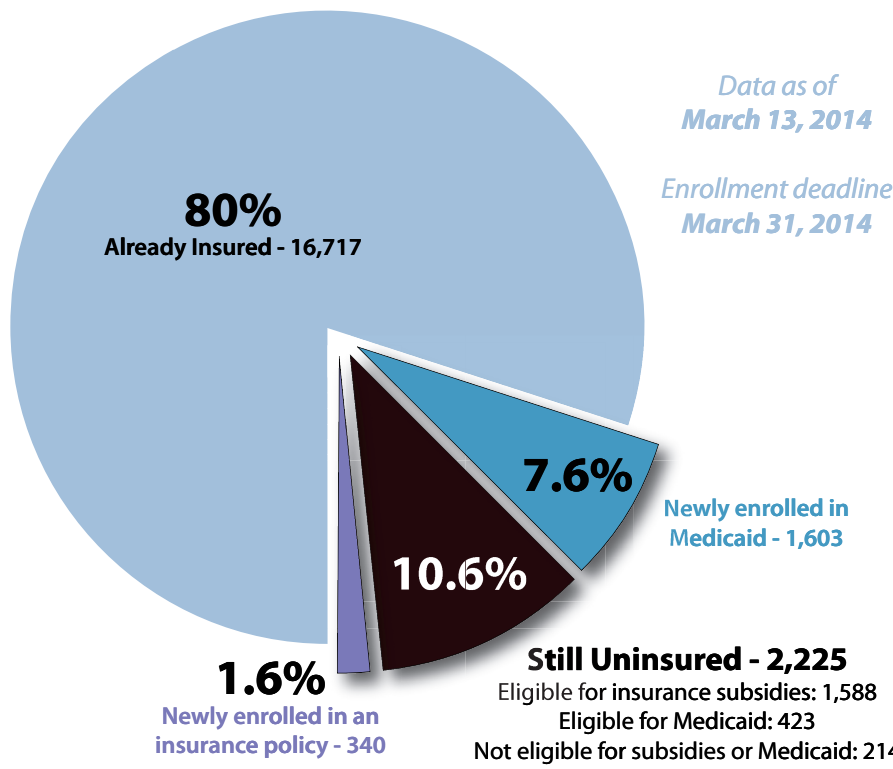

A large percentage of those uninsured people in Lincoln are eligible for insurance subsidies or free Medicaid coverage, according to statistics from Gov. Steve Beshear's office.

Trial for Robinsons delayed

STANFORD — The trial of two Lincoln County brothers accused of sexually abusing young children in their own families has been postponed again after more information pertaining to the cases recently was uncovered.

James Matthew Robinson, 40, and Timothy Robinson, 36, both of Kings Mountain, were scheduled to stand trial March 17 in Lincoln Circuit Court on multiple counts of sexually abusing minor children. Judge David Tapp reluctantly agreed to move the trial to April 14 based upon a motion for a continuance from the commonwealth in light of the new material that attorneys for both sides have to go over.

Stacy Akers, paralegal for Commonwealth's Attorney Eddy Montgomery, said last week “the newly found confidential information pertains to victims in the case, who are all minors.”

Matthew Robinson is charged, in two separate indictments, with seven counts of use of a minor in a sexual performance, seven counts of first-degree sexual abuse and first-degree sodomy for incidents that allegedly occurred between January 2009 and August 2012.

Flood-prone property demolition project could be done this year

By Ben Kleppinger
ben@theinteriorjournal.com

STANFORD — More than a year after officials moved forward with a federally funded plan to demolish 21 flood-prone properties in Lincoln County, the most visible properties — a stretch of dilapidated mobile homes along U.S. 27 north of Stanford — remain standing.

The $800,000 project being coordinated by

Lincoln's fiscal court has been slow to progress, Judge-Executive Jim Adams said, because of delays in reimbursements from the Federal Emergency Management Agency, which is providing for about three-fourths of the estimated price tag.

But Lincoln County only has one other property left now to complete before it tackles the 12 properties

News from Stanford Nazarene Church

By Buford Edwards II

Our mission at Stanford Church of the Nazarene is to share the gospel message of Jesus Christ to all the world and to be a place of healing and hope to all in need.

Sunday morning, we celebrated the Lord's Day with song, as we continued the Ashes to Fire series and the sermon brought by Bro. Buford from John 3 as we looked at "Jesus After Dark."

On Sunday night, we gathered back for more singing and testimonies and the Word from youth pastor, Bro. Dennis Hasty.

Join us Wednesday nights at 7 p.m. for our "Book Club." On Wednesday, March 12, we will also be working through the Ashes to Fire series. This is an awesome series that leads us through Lent, Easter and Pentecost. You don't want to miss it. also, the youth have powerful services as well as classes for our children. It's a busy place on Wednesday, come check it out.

The church is working hard on year two of the "Five Year Plan." We are actively raising funds to purchase a church van and pay off the debt on the fellowship hall. If you would like to donate to the cause, you can drop off a donation at any service or even mail in a donation. Just remember to write "Five Year Plan," somewhere (memo field of check or envelope of cash) in order for it to be properly designated.

If you would like to sponsor one of our two youth that have been selected to compete in the regional TNT competition in Nashville on April 4-5, you can see Bro. Dennis. We need a total of $600 to pay for both youth and their chaperone.

The Jail Ministry meets every Sunday at 2:30 p.m. and the Nursing Home Ministry the first Tuesday of each month at 2 p.m. For more information, or to learn how to get involved, contact the church and leave a message.

The Men's Group and Youth Group have entered into a joint venture to complete service projects in the community. If you are in need of any work done around your home that you are unable to complete, or know of any folks in need, please contact Bro. Robert Bowen or Bro. Dennis Hasty.

Our Spring Revival is coming up March 30-April 2. We will be having Bro. Hershel Lawhorn joining us. Sunday's kick off service is at 6 p.m. and Monday through Wednesday services will be at 7 p.m.

We are very excited to announce that we will be having the Crossroads Quartet joining us on Sunday, May 4 at 6 p.m. for a Gospel Singing Night. There is no admission fee but we will be receiving a love offering.

The ladies meet the first Tuesday of every month at 6 p.m. in the fellowship hall. Their next regular meeting will be Tuesday, April 1.

The Men's Group meets every other month on the second Monday of the month. However, our next meeting will be Saturday, May 17 at noon. We will be meeting for a target shoot and lunch on the farm. Come out and join us!

The church has an active food assistance program. If you know of anyone or have a need yourself, leave a message at the church.

Service times: We have an amazing variety of blended services. Each week we have "Schoolin'" (Sunday school) beginning at 10 a.m., with worship services on Sunday at 11 a.m. and 6 p.m. Additionally, our "Book Club," youth, and children all meet together on Wednesday nights at 7 p.m. The "Book Club" and children always meet at the church and the youth alternate between the church and fellowship hall each week.

For more information about our youth group and children's programs, email the directors by logging on to our website at www.stanfordchurchofthenazarene.com

If you would like more information about our church and events, contact Pastor Buford Edwards at (606) 365-1260 or visit us on the web. Don't forget to also "like" the Stanford Church of the Nazarene on Facebook to receive updates and an encouraging word.

ROBINSONS

performance, faces additional charges of sodomy, incest and using a minor in a sexual performance.

The cases have been merged, and the brothers will stand trial as co-defendants.

The alleged victims in the case range in age between 2 and 16 years old, Akers said. All have been removed from their homes and placed in state care, she said.

In granting his order for a new trial date, Tapp expressed his dismay at again delaying a trial that already had been postponed twice.

“One of these cases has now been pending for nearly 11 months and the other for four months,” the judge wrote. “Given these facts, it is difficult to accept the basic premise that the parties have had insufficient time to prepare for trial.”

Akers said Tapp had little choice but to delay the case, given that more than 100 pages of new information recently had turned up and attorneys from both sides need time to go over it all.

“This case is so massive,” she said.

In a filing last week, Assistant Commonwealth’s Attorney Carol Hill put Matthew Robinson on notice, as required by law, that she plans to introduce “prior bad acts” into evidence in the trial.

Hill states in her notice that Matthew Robinson stated on several occasions, in graphic terms, that his sexual appetite knows few boundaries. “Eight to 88, it doesn’t matter to me,” Matthew Robinson allegedly boasted. “I would like to have a schoolboy around all of the time.”

The Robinson family has a long history of sexual abuse.

In addition to Timothy Robinson’s conviction last year, his wife Rhonda pleaded guilty to facilitation to her husband’s sex crimes and was sentenced to eight years in prison.

In 2005, older brother Clarence V. Robinson was sentenced to 50 years in prison after being convicted of four counts of rape involving a 12-year-old girl, the daughter of his live-in girlfriend. The girl had three children by Clarence Robinson before the age of 16.

CALENDAR

From A1

Monday, would currently be eligible for three disaster days under that bill.

Smith said there’s also a bill that would allow school districts to hold a regular school day on May 20, Kentucky’s primary election day.

The state senate and house have each passed legislation concerning weather-day forgiveness, but the two chambers have yet to come to an agreement on any one solution.

Without any further changes to Lincoln County’s school calendar, students would apparently be in class through June 10 and school closing day would be June 11.

A release date in the second week of June interferes with many students’ plans, including family trips and Church mission trips, school board members have noted.

But, in the absence of assistance from the legislature, the district is somewhat limited in its options.

Three days of the district’s five-day spring break were lost relatively early in the year to make up for weather days. Last month, board members voted to do away with the last two spring break days in order to keep the end of school at the beginning of June.

But since that vote, the district has had six more weather days, including four following a massive winter storm at the beginning of March that dumped inches of snow and sleet across the county.

The district is able to ask the Kentucky Department of Education for forgiveness of any missed days in excess of 20, meaning it could potentially ask for one day from KDE currently.

The former Stanford EMS headquarters building on South Second Street in Stanford is the third and final building the city of Stanford will be purchasing and clearing away as part of a FEMA-funded program to turn flood-prone properties into permanent green space.

that comprise the trailer park sitting along the bank of the Dix River. If everything goes as planned, the land will be turned into permanent green space “before the snow flies” next winter, Adams said.

“I feel confident that we’re going to be able to clean up the mess at the river shortly,” he said.

Magistrates approved purchasing a piece of land known as the Hasty property for about $141,000 on Monday. When the county is reimbursed for that purchase is when it can move forward and buy the trailer park properties for about $150,000, along with the final property included in the program, a $20,000 piece of land on Rankin Road, Adams said.

The way the program works, FEMA reimburses Lincoln County for the sale prices of the properties involved, but not until after the county purchases the properties. The county is required to tear down structures on the properties and leave them as permanent green spaces afterward.

That step involves some cost for the county, most of which comes in the form of labor and equipment costs for the demolition.

Sale prices for properties included in the program were determined by an appraisal and FEMA guidelines.

FEMA offers grants through its Substantially Damaged Acquisitions project for projects like Lincoln County’s as a way of taking flood-prone properties off the market and ensuring those properties will never need flood insurance through the Federal Flood Insurance Program again.

Lincoln County Daryl Day has explained the grant program as a way to improve public safety by getting people out of dangerous structures and a way to pay now instead of multiple times later when floods hit those structures.

The trailer park along U.S. 27 has flooded three times over the last four decades, according to the owner of the properties, Janice Rowe.

The trick for small local governments such as Lincoln County is Smith said other options available to board members include turning Memorial Day into a school day and cutting two instructional days from the district’s current 172 days of instruction. The district needs 170 instructional days in order to meet state requirements.

School board Chairman Jim Kelley said he doesn’t like the idea of cutting instructional days because the district has been in hot water before for having too few instructional days. With auditors coming soon to assess improvement in the district, Kelley said he wouldn’t want to have to explain why the district had reduced instructional days against state recommendations.

Superintendent Karen Hatter concurred with Kelley’s assessment.

“I agree we don’t need to miss instruction,” she said. “I think it would be frowned upon. We’ve coming up with the money to purchase the properties prior to reimbursement.

Lincoln County doesn’t have enough sitting in its coffers to buy all 21 properties on its list at once, so officials have been clearing a few properties at a time and then waiting for a FEMA reimbursement before continuing with another batch.

Day said Lincoln County’s first reimbursement came back from FEMA in 30 days, as expected. But after that, the rules for reimbursement changed and it took about four months to be reimbursed for the second round of properties.

Stanford’s project progressing, too

The city of Stanford has been conducting its own FEMA-funded project to clear away three flood-prone properties along South Second Street, near the banks of St. Asaph Creek.

It took FEMA three years to provide initial approval for Stanford’s $241,000 project, and while things been cautioned.”

Kelley said he would like to poll parents about possibly taking Memorial Day, but not until “after the snow settles.”

Regardless of what decision officials ultimately reach, the severe winter experienced in Lincoln County will likely continue to affect future school calendars for years.

State law requires school officials to consider the past five school years when planning for makeup days in a new school calendar. The number of makeup days has to be equal to the number of weather days taken in the worst of the past five years.

Prior to this year’s 21 weather days to date, the previous worst year was 2009-2010, when students missed 15 days due to weather and three days due to a widespread illness.

were sometimes “a little slow” following that approval, Stanford is “starting to make some progress” toward completion, Mayor Bill Miracle said.

The city began its project in earnest in the middle of 2013 and has completed purchase and demolition of two residential houses in the low-lying area.

Stanford has been reimbursed for “a large percentage” of the purchase prices for those properties, Miracle said. The properties were bought for $49,500 and $11,250 respectively, according to archives.

Now, Stanford has its sights set on the third property, a $130,000 structure owned by Stanford EMS that was previously the ambulance service’s headquarters.

Miracle said while Stanford budgeted for up to $32,000 in local costs for its project, so far the city has probably spent about $3,000 in cash.

Similarly to Lincoln County, Miracle said he expects the city to be done with its project before the end of the year.

KYNECT

From A1

Linda East, Lincoln County’s insurance “Kynector.”

East estimated she has helped about 400 Lincoln County residents sign up for health insurance since December.

“I really feel like I’ve just brushed the surface,” East said. “I feel like there are so many people who don’t know that I’m here to help or they just don’t know about the Affordable (Care) Act at all.”

East’s 400 sign-ups are about 20 percent of the 1,943 previously uninsured people in Lincoln County who have signed up for insurance since open enrollment began in October, according to Kynect data from March 13.

Prior to the current open enrollment period, about 20 percent of Lincoln County residents under the age of 65 were uninsured. That number is now closer to 10 percent, the data show.

A large majority of those who have signed up — 1,603, according to the data — have been eligible under the Medicaid expansion put in place by the Affordable Care Act. Medicaid provides health insurance without a monthly premium to children and low-income individuals. About 400 Lincoln County residents are eligible for Medicaid coverage but have not signed up, according to the data.

More than 1,500 uninsured Lincoln County residents are eligible for subsidies to help pay for their insurance if they sign up by March 31. Around 200 residents of the county are uninsured and have too much income to qualify for a subsidy, according to the data.

Under the Affordable Care Act, anyone who doesn’t sign up for health insurance in 2014 will be subject to a penalty on their taxes of $95 or 1 percent of their income, whichever is larger. That income-percentage penalty will slowly rise over multiple years to 2.5 percent.

People who already have employer-sponsored insurance or are enrolled in Medicare — health insurance for senior citizens — do not have to do anything to comply with the law.

East said people do not have to sign up for insurance through Kynect to comply with the law; they can get private insurance instead if they prefer. But, she noted, everyone she has talked to who has comparison-shopped with other insurance options ultimately chose a plan available through Kynect.

“The rates are very affordable and you can only get the (subsidy) assistance through Kynect,” she said.

East said she is doing what she can to cut into the number of uninsured in Lincoln by making herself available in community hot spots around the county, including the public library in Stanford and the Past Time Cafe in Crab Orchard.

“I go to people’s homes if they need me to,” she said. “I meet people (at the library); I meet people at the hospital; I am available by phone daily.”

Lincoln residents have been blowing up East’s phone with questions and requests for help — she’s gotten calls as early as 5:50 a.m. and as late as 11:45 p.m.

“I empty my voicemail on

SO YOU KNOW

Lincoln County Kynector Linda East is available to help people sign up for health insurance or answer questions at the following times and locations:

- Fort Logan Hospital from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. on March 24 and 31, and from 9 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. on March 28
- Lincoln County Public Library from 4 to 8 p.m. on March 20, and from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. on March 29
- Past Time Cafe in Crab Orchard from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. on March 25
- By phone: 859-339-2308

average twice a day,” she said. “But that’s why I am here, and I want to take care of the people in Lincoln County. I want to help them get the insurance they need.”

East said she’s seen quite a few cases where an insurance plan offered through Kynect gave someone a much lower-cost option than their alternatives. One woman was looking at a $500 monthly premium until she talked with East, who found her a plan for $320 a month with a $260 monthly subsidy, leaving her with just a $60 monthly cost for her premium.

East said she can’t estimate how much someone might be eligible for in subsidies until all their information is in the system because “it’s a bunch of different agencies coming together to see what you qualify for.”

East said that in most cases it takes 5-20 minutes for her to walk someone through the process of signing up through Kynect. In some cases, the government will require verification of some information, which can delay completion of an application by up to 30 days, she explained.

For Lincoln resident Tessa Folger, signing up with East’s help took a little more than 15 minutes Saturday afternoon. Folger, who worked at a plastics company in Lebanon until she became unemployed about 15 months ago, said she’s been in need of some medical tests but hasn’t been able to afford the up-front cost.

Folger qualified for Medicaid and said she plans on seeing her doctor later this month.

“I’m very happy to know that I have insurance now,” she said. “I didn’t know it was that easy. I know in the past, it wasn’t.”

East said interacting with so many people around Lincoln County has given her a firsthand experience of how nice the population is.

“I feel like I’ve adopted a lot of people. I worry about them,” she said. “It’s not about me. It’s about these people being able to go to the doctor.”

East said she knows there’s been a lot of controversy surrounding the Affordable Care Act, but her goal as a Kynector is not a political one — she wants to help Lincoln residents take advantage of the low premiums that are potentially available to them.

“For me, this is not about being a Democrat or a Republican,” she said. “It’s just the law. ... Right now, we just have to abide by the law.”

An encouraging word Better things are ahead

By Howard Coop

A long time ago Percy Bysshe Shelley, in a poem called Ode to the West Wind, wrote, “O wind, if winter comes, can spring be far behind?”

At last, the dreary days of winter are behind us; the vernal equinox that usually occurs around March 21 has arrived. This year it arrived a day early. When the vernal equinox happens, the sun has reached the mid-point of its northward journey, and the days and nights are equal in length. In our hearts, we are glad, for we know that warm and sunny days are ahead. Spring, the season of rebirth, rejuvenation, renewal, resurrection, and re-growth, has arrived! Robin Williams expressed the joy and excitement of the human heart when he wrote, “Spring is nature’s way of saying, ‘Let’s party!’”

It is obvious that the world around us is awakening. Signs of this awakening are everywhere; we can’t miss them. Over two millennia ago, Virgil, the Roman poet, wrote, “Now every field is clothed with green, and every tree with leaves; now the woods put forth their blossoms, and the year assumes its gay attire.” As everything puts forth new life, it’s easy to see the wisdom of William Shakespeare when he suggested that spring is the season that “has put a spirit of youth in everything.”

With the drabness of winter behind us, the world stirs with new life and becomes more beautiful each day. It is easy to see the wisdom of Virgil Kraft’s words, “Spring shows what God can do with a drab and dirty world.” He makes it beautiful.

Spring may mean many things, but first and foremost, it is the season of hope. Robin Williams said, “The day the Lord created hope was probably the same day he created Spring.”

When spring comes, there is an optimistic spirit within the human heart. However gloomy the situation may be around us, we look forward with hope, for we are confident better things are ahead.

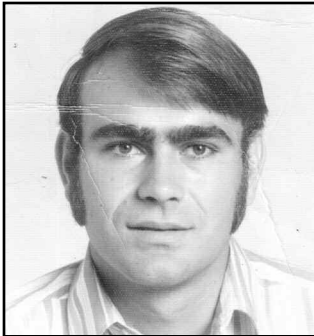

Larry Wayne VanHook, 67

Larry Wayne VanHook, 67, of Eubank, passed away Friday, March 14, at Lake Cumberland Regional Hospital.

Born March 14, 1947, in Eubank, Larry was a son of the late Vola E. and Doris Benge VanHook. He played basketball for Eubank High School, was a graduate of UK with a degree in forestry, was an aircraft mechanic in the U.S. Air Force and spent several years in Pulaski County in the lumber business.

He was also preceded in death by a brother, Eddie VanHook.

Survivors include his daughter, Annalisa VanHook (James Yoshii) of Oakland, Calif.; three siblings, Doris Jean VanHook Correll, Lois VanHook Sharpe and Deborah VanHook; sister-in-law, Janie VanHook; former spouse, Carolyn Singleton Lugus; and long term partner, Wanda Guinn.

Funeral services were March 18, at Morris & Hislope Funeral Home in Science Hill with Bro. Dale Robins officiating. Burial was in White Lily Cemetery.

Megan DeBord Williams, 30

Megan DeBord Williams, 30, of Somerset, passed away Wednesday, March 12.

Born July 19, 1983, in Lexington, Megan was the daughter of David DeBord and Nancy Cecil Walters. She was a cook at Ruby Tuesday's.

She was also preceded in death by her paternal grandparents, Joe and Nannie DeBord; and maternal grandfather, Gene Cecil.

Other survivors include three daughters, Kaylie Williams, Jazmyn Williams-VanHook and Ceanna Williams, who were everything to her; maternal grandmother, Mary Cecil; uncles, Dwight DeBord and Jimmy (Kelly) Cecil; aunts, Pat Willis and Janice (Bruce) McDonald; and several cousins. She was loved and will be greatly missed by her family and friends.

Funeral services were March 15, at Morris & Hislope Funeral Home in Science Hill with Bro. Ferlin Price officiating. Burial was in Woodstock Cemetery.

FEATURES FROM THE BIBLE

TRUTH IN SCRIPTURE

NAME CHANGE FOR SARAI AND ABRAM
Genesis 17

God Speaks to Abram again, (How many times does this make that God speaks to him.), and reaffirms the promise that Abram would be the father of many nations. No longer will Abram be known as Abram, Exalted Father, but will hereafter be known as Abraham, Father Of A Multitude.

The promise of God to Abraham continues, "I will make you exceedingly fruitful,and kings will come from you." Amplified Bible, Genesis 17:5

A sign of Gods covenant with Abraham is introduced here. Abraham and all the males with him were to be circumcised and for the coming generations, every newborn male would be circumcised when eight days old.

And God told Abraham that Sarai's name was changed to Sarah, Princess. God said that Sarah would be the mother of nations and kings would come from her.

And Abraham fell on his face and laughed at the thought of a child being born to a man who was 100 years old and a woman who was 90.

But God said it would happen, and that he would also bless Ishmael.

Cards of thanks

Family expresses heartfelt gratitude

We the family of Donna Denice Harper McCool, Roy and Bernice Beasley, her son, Harper Dale McCool, her husband, Tony McCool, her sister, Phyllis Ann (David) Holcomb, her nieces, Skylar and Sydney Holcomb, and special aunt, Ann Hammond, wish to express our heartfelt gratitude to all those who have continuously prayed, loved and supported us this year long battle of cancer with Donna.

Special thanks to the Crab Orchard School family for the cancer walk, the special friendships, the food and gifts Harper received for the Christmas holidays. Thanks to all friends and neighbors that helped with meals. To Jeff and Blanca Hammond for their many meals for the home and gifts for Harper and Donna. To Howard and Sharon Saylor’s crew that visited the home with prayers, food and gifts. Thanks to Mr. and Mrs. McKnight (Peyton and Chase) for their help with transportation for Harper to and from school when we needed them. We wish to thank the surgeon staff, the chemo doctor, oncologist Mr. Nidhiry, the neurologist Dr. Mrs. Nidhiry, the radiologist oncologist Dr. Carleson, the Danville Cancer Center and the ICU unit teams at the Ephraim McDowell Hospital, Danville, Ky.

Special thank you to the chief of staff and CEO Mr. Mike Karph at the UK Medical Center in Lexington, for the ICU’s specialist teams of doctors and the professional nurses care we received. To Dowell Martin Funeral Home and Mrs. Pam Martin for the beautiful spray of red roses. Thanks to Bro. Ova Baker and Bro. Philip Scott for their prayers and visits with Donna during her hospital stay.

A special thank you to our church family, Church of Christ at Chestnut Ridge, for all the many prayers, cards, calls, flowers and those of your who gave financial support to Harper and Donna. Thank you to all church families and friends everywhere for your many prayers, cards, calls and visits and support shared with Donna.

To all who brought food and shared fellowship with Donna’s family at the shelter, we wish to thank you. Also Bro. Ova Baker, Bro. Dale McNew, Bro. Philip Scott, and Bro. Marcus Reppert for all the prayers and encouragement and words of comfort at the service. Thank you to the KSP of Frankfort for their support and escort. We deeply appreciate you.

Words cannot express the compassion each of you have given us and we are forever grateful to you for your kindness. Most of all we thank God for allowing us to share life and love with Donna that “He” so richly blessed her with. God bless and thank each of you that visited or came to the funeral, signed the condolence register or lit a candle. Our hearts are broken – we love you – memories held closer and you will never be forgotten.

Removal of ice storm debris underway

Kentucky Transportation Cabinet (KYTC) road crews began removing vegetative debris from Kentucky’s recent ice storm in Lincoln County on March 17.

The work will consist of removing fallen trees and branches from highway right-of-way on all state routes throughout the county.

Citizens that may have debris from the ice storm, located on their property, and would like for it to be picked up are asked to place these items near the right-of-way line for easy removal. Do NOT place limbs in ditches or where they will block drives and/or mail boxes. Material must be close enough that crews can reach, but placed as not to block the view of drivers or cause other safety issues.

KYTC will only be picking up fallen trees and branches along the roadside. They will not pick up metal, plastic or wood products such as paneling, siding, plywood or cut lumber. Only one pass will be made along each highway.

Crews also will not be going onto private property to remove fallen trees and limbs from yards or fields.

Dates that debris will be picked up along specific highways have not been determined. Work schedules will be set on a tentative basis, and may be impacted by weather conditions as well as quantities of debris encountered by the crews.

Motorists are urged to watch for these debris removal crews. Be on the lookout for flaggers and equipment in the impacted areas. This work may require lane closures and temporary traffic stoppages. Drivers should anticipate delays and plan their trips accordingly.

Dial 511 or log onto <http://511.ky.gov> for the latest in traffic and travel information in the Commonwealth of Kentucky. You can also get traffic information for the District 8 counties at www.facebook.com/KYTCDistrict8 or by following us on Twitter at www.twitter.com/KYTCDistrict8.

Pleasant View Baptist Church news

By Scena Ann Petrey

The music for Sunday, March 16 was very uplifting with old hymns like “I’ll Fly Away” and “Blessed Assurance”. Choir practice has been returned to Wednesday nights at 7 p.m. Currently the choir is practicing on the Easter music.

The youth of the church are selling “holy spirit” cards for $10 with a total of 15 vendors on the cards. See any of the youth or Bro. Matthew for your card, which will be sold through March 26!

Approximately 20,000 people were in Rupp Arena for the Winter Jam last Saturday night. Live Christian bands performed for the packed arena. Bro. Matthew and Kevin Coots took several of our youth to Lexington for the winter jam.

Bro. Jamie brought the morning message Sunday during Bro. Kyle’s absence. “The Power of God”, the title of the message, came from James 5:13-18. The entire message centered around our prayer life.

James insisted in this passage on the importance of prayer. Maintaining a close relationship with Jesus requires open communication with Him. Just as a husband and wife maintain a strong marriage through open communication, so is our relationship with Jesus made stronger through prayer. After all, He is the bridegroom, and the church is the bride.

Bro. Jamie encouraged us to pray for one another, love one another, and have communication with one another. Spiritual health + talking with Him on a regular basis = effective and fervent prayers.

We will observing the Lord’s Supper during the 9 and 11 a.m. services on Sunday, March 23.

The Ky. Missionary Commissioning Service will be Friday, April 4 at the Central Baptist Church in Winchester. The Kentucky Missionary of the year will be recognized. Contact Annette Story for more information.

Congratulations to Andrew and Kayla McGinnis on the birth of their son, Creston Daniel McGinnis, on March 10. He weighed 8 lbs., 4 oz. and was 21” long. His grandparents are Cindy McGinnis and Glen and Jackie Adington.

Preparations and practices are underway for the Youth Bible Drill for 7th graders. Contact Bridgett Blakeman if you are interested. Practices are set for every Sunday from 4:30 – 6:30 p.m.

Save your Campbell’s soup labels and General

Mills box tops for the WMU-Christ Followers. They will use these to support the Oneida Baptist Institute. Contact Annette Story for more information.

Don’t forget that Vacation Bible School 2014 is set for June 16-20, 2014.

Pleasant View will have a team for the Relay for Life. A $10 registration fee may be paid to Pam Smith or you may register on line at <http://www.relayforlife.org/>. Select a team and then join. Contact Pam Smith for more information.

Another date to save is April 12, 2014. The Broughtontown Community Center will host a fund raiser for cancer patients. All proceeds will be placed in the Eddie Hopkins Foundation Fund. Gospel singing, a meal for a nominal price, and an auction will be features for the night. The public is invited to attend; there is no charge, but donations are appreciated. Contact Loren Simpson for more information.

Plans are under way for the Great Awakening Revival for the entire county; this is coming up April 27-May 2. This revival will be at the Kings Mountain Community Center.

SUNSHINE WEEK

FOCUSING ON TRANSPARENCY IN GOVERNMENT

Gov't blocking easy access at all levels

Finding public information shouldn't be an 'Easter egg hunt'

By Angela Greiling Keane and David Cuillier
Special for Sunshine Week

When the Valley Journals of Riverton, Utah, a suburb of Salt Lake City, wanted to know the time of the town's 2012 Easter egg hunt, they couldn't find out. The city barred the parks official from speaking to reporters without permission, and nothing, not even the Second Coming, would pry that information loose.

What Valley Journals Managing Editor Linda Petersen experienced is unfortunately all too common – and becoming more so – in Utah, Washington, D.C., and other government shops across the country.

Agencies at all levels, through aggressive and manipulative tactics, are increasingly controlling what information the public receives, threatening the very foundation of democracy.

This is more than just about Easter eggs and inconveniences for journalists. Growing message management by the government is something that concerns anyone who cares about holding elected officials accountable. The examples are too numerous to ignore.

Last year White House photographers and their supporters fought en masse against the increasingly common practice of the Obama administration barring photos of official events, instead distributing polished White House-provided photographs.

The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention stopped a Palm Beach Post reporter from speaking to a CDC investigator on one of the largest tuberculosis outbreaks in 20 years because, the PR officer said, the agency wanted the state to take the lead.

The Department of Health and Human Services stopped a New York Times reporter from talking to a federally employed psychologist who had alleged widespread child abuse on a Native American reservation.

Most federal agencies prohibit their employees from communicating with journalists unless the bosses have public relations staffers sitting in on the conversations. Contact is often blocked completely. When public affairs officers speak, even about routine public matters, they often do so confidentially in spite of having the title "spokesperson."

Reporters seeking interviews are expected to seek permission, often providing questions in advance. Delays can stretch for days, longer than most deadlines allow. Public affairs officers might send their own written responses of slick non-answers.

So why should the public care about journalists' frustrations? Why don't reporters just buck up and work harder to get the information? Many are, despite cutbacks in most newsrooms. But this isn't a battle between the press and government. It's about the information you receive to self-govern.

It is entirely possible that Department of Health and Human Services insiders would have educated reporters months ago about the HealthCare.gov website dysfunction if they could have spoken confidentially – if the government were responsive to the public rather than secretive and controlling.

Unfortunately, because of these overzealous PR practices, the public won't find out about problems until it's too late.

A 2013 survey of government public affairs officers from throughout the country found that two-thirds believe it is their duty to monitor employee interviews with journalists. The study, by Kennesaw State University researcher Carolyn Carlson, also found that 40 percent had blocked reporters because they didn't like what the journalists wrote.

Passed off by agencies as "just the way it is," these restrictions are relatively new. In pre-9/11 times, credential reporters walked agency halls freely. They called staff at will, and bureaucrats weren't afraid of losing their jobs if they took the time for a conversation. The public got information it needed.

Reporters' unofficial talks with people inside government – going back long before Watergate – are essential to public understanding and prevention of abuse of power. The official story is never the whole story.

Limiting access to government information is a disservice to the citizenry. Muzzling government employees has the same effect as censorship. It hides problems that need to be exposed. Journalists don't want that, citizens don't want that, and we sincerely hope the administration doesn't want that.

It is time for a significant cultural shift in American government, and that starts at the top.

We urge President Obama, governors, mayors, school superintendents, and all other government leaders to reverse this troubling trend by pledging to create open agency information cultures.

Allow journalists and the public to contact government employees directly for information, without PR specialists intervening.

Allow journalists to interview government employees without a public relations specialist present. Pass a federal shield law, stronger state shield laws and stronger whistleblower protection laws.

All of these actions will improve public discourse and democracy. Citizens should expect nothing less of their public servants – to foster knowledge, credibility and openness, not spin, mistrust and secrecy. The time for change is now, before it is too late.

Hunts are for Easter eggs, not government information.

Angela Greiling Keane is the 2013 president of the National Press Club. David Cuillier is the director of the University of Arizona School of Journalism and the president of the Society of Professional Journalists.

Extension Homemakers hold International Night

By Leoni Mundelius

Extension Homemakers successfully accomplished International Night with triumph. Seven Homemakers Clubs creatively presented the event.

The Crab Orchard and Lynwood Clubs presented India. Lucy Burton was attired in a Shari outfit and authentic traditional Indian food was graciously prepared by the family from India.

Four Corners Club invited Carol Simpson’s son Luis (originated from Guatemala) as their speaker. Simpson born mute and deaf presented his native Guatemala in sign language, while his mother, Carol Simpson translated.

Member Debbie Popplewell brought her grandson Austin Popplewell, a Culinary Arts student, who contributed roasted corn and an avocado and black bean salad.

Forget Me Not Club members represented Japan. They served Teriyaki Chicken with rice, Miso soup and green tea. Several members made kimonos and wore them for the evening.

The McKinney Club chose the Philippines as their country and shared information on a power point. Member Leoni Mundelius also made and displayed Christmas lantern called Parol, a traditional Christmas decoration in that country. Kathy Diaz made the Pork Caldereta which released a mouthwatering aroma.

New Kids on the Block presented Switzerland. Sherrill Disney baked two Triple Chocolate Cakes for tasting while Nell Manning dressed in traditional Swiss clothing talked about the country.

Mountain Crafters Club presented Ireland complete with a river dance presented by Phyllis and Wanda Patterson. Bev Rob presented the educational information.

Club members worked hard researching their chosen country’s educational information, cooking the traditional food for tasting, practicing the traditional dance and making the traditional clothing. The international foods served were tasty and carefully prepared.

With the money received from the evening, the homemakers were able to send enough money to National Volunteer Outreach Network (NVON) for four water filters. This will help some families in India or Africa purify their drinking water.

Brenda Hammons, dressed in her Fursode Kimono complete with her Japanese fan and brunette wig adorned with pink flowers, chats with Cathy Kunkell-Mains, the state International chairperson.

News from Highland Methodist Church

Despite bad weather reports on Sunday, March 16, there was a nice group of members in attendance at the Highland United Methodist Church.

Birthdays remembered during Sunday school were Don Ballard and Buddy and Frankie Young’s daughter, Jourdan.

Ron and Ellen Hunkins were celebrating an anniversary.

The congregation learned that Iva Young was once again a great-grandmother. Glen Adington’s daughter had a baby boy. Glen is Iva’s son.

John Dotler and Jo Bush (fell and stroke) were added to the prayer list. Jo Bush is an aunt of Carrie McKenzie’s.

The men recited their Bible verse from Mathew 6-6.

The women are to recite Matthew 25:44-45 next Sunday.

Several members are to attend a meeting at the Centenary United Methodist Church in Lexington. This is a meeting to discuss concerns and issues to be discussed at conference in June. Ron and Ellen Hunkins are the delegates to conference

Sunday’s message was based on scripture from 1 Peter 5:7. The theme was “Prayer, a Two Way Street.”

The congregation was asked to use their fingers from one of their hands as focal points to remember to pray for other persons. The small finger was to represent “little ones,” children. The ring finger was to represent loved ones, those close to one. The middle finger was to represent those in high powered positions. The second finger is often used for pointing at others. This was to represent those who teach and assist in giving directions. The thumb was to represent those far away; such as, missionaries and military.

Dawn and Scot Cheetham worked with the children in children’s church.

After worship the choir practiced special music for Palm and Easter Sundays. There will be practice on Wednesdays at 6:30 and on Sundays.

We welcome Carrie McKinzie as a new member to our choir. Too, we were thrilled to have Janice Smith back in worship and in the choir.

Join us each Sunday at the Highland United Methodist Church at 10 and 11 a.m. as we study God’s word and worship in faith and fellowship in love afterwards.

News from Fairview Baptist

By Shelby Lakes

On Sunday, Bro. Johnny Baker announced the Haiti missionary team will be leaving for Haiti on Tuesday, March 18. Bro. Johnny said Jesus said to preach the gospel to everyone, and that the team would be going to Haiti not for a vacation, but to lead people to Christ.

Bro. Johnny also said that sadly we are not reaching out to many in our own nation. He encouraged us to enlarge our hearts for other people, and to help lead them to Jesus. The Lord will stand with our team, and with you when you go out into the world, he said.

It shouldn’t be a burden to do God’s will. You can speak and pray when you are yoked with Jesus. You can’t do it on your own.

Our lives are not to be lived for creature comforts; they are to be lived to seek the lost. Simply do what Jesus has called you to do whether you go to Haiti, Brazil, Puerto Rico, or stay here.

“Expect great things from God,” Bro. Johnny said. “Attempt great things for God.

PLAINTIFF
NOTICE OF SALE
DEFENDANTS

FRIDAY, MARCH 28, 2014, AT 10:00 A.M.
FRONT DOOR, LINCOLN COUNTY COURTHOUSE

Pursuant to a Judgment and Order of Sale of the Lincoln Circuit Court entered September 17, 2013, in the above-styled civil action, the undersigned Master Commissioner will sell the following real property located at 103 Brett Circle, Hustonville, Lincoln County, Kentucky, at the front door, Lincoln County Courthouse, on Friday, March 28, 2014, at the hour of 10:00 a.m., or as soon thereafter as said property can be sold, said property being more particularly described as follows:

Being all of Lot 6, Elliott Estates Subdivision, as shown by map or plat thereof of record in Plat Cabinet B, at Slide 371, as amended in Plat Cabinet B, at Slide 500, in the Lincoln County Clerk's Office, the improvements thereon being known and designated as 103 Brett Lane.

This being the same property acquired by John R. Davis and Amanda J. Davis, his wife, by deed from Bland's Construction, Inc., a Kentucky Corporation, dated June 27, 2003, of record in Deed Book 335, Page 672, Lincoln County Court Clerk's Office.

The above described real property will be sold and conveyed subject to such valid and existing easements, restrictions, reservations, conditions, covenants and limitations apparent or of record in the chain of title.

The sale of the above real property will be made on a credit of ninety (90) days time with the privilege extended to the purchaser of paying the entire purchase price, or any part in excess of twenty-five percent (25%) thereof, in cash at the time of the sale. If the sale be made on credit, the purchaser shall pay to the Master Commissioner immediately at the time of the sale twenty-five percent (25%) of the total sale price and execute bond for the balance due in ninety (90) days, bearing interest at the rate of twelve percent (12%) per annum from the date of sale until paid, with a good and sufficient surety thereon; and the bond shall be secured by a lien upon said property sold which shall have the full force and effect of a judgment. The purchaser may pay the purchase price money due on the bond with accrued interest at any time before maturity.

The real property described herein is to be sold at the time and place stated; and shall be sold free and clear of all liens, indebtedness, interests and claims of the parties hereto, subject to any and all applicable statutory rights of redemption, including the Right of Redemption granted to the United States of America pursuant to 28 U.S.C. Sec. 2410.

All delinquent ad valorem taxes, if any, interest and penalties will be paid out of the proceeds of said sale. The purchaser will be responsible for payment of the 2014 ad valorem taxes.

Possession of the real property will be given to the purchaser with the delivery of the deed of conveyance thereto. The purchaser will be responsible for all risks of loss to the premises upon acceptance of their bid at the time of sale.

The purpose of this sale is to satisfy the judgment of the Lincoln Circuit Court in the above-styled action in favor of Plaintiff in the sum of $65,112.40 plus interest, advances for the protection of the property, costs and attorney fees as authorized and provided in said Judgment.

EMS CALLS

and sheriffs’ offices because they can bill for the cost of providing their services. Powell said while that fact helps cover the cost of increased ambulance runs “to a degree,” there are plenty of complicating factors that can make it difficult to keep an ambulance service operating.

“It’s a continuous problem when run volumes increase and funding doesn’t. That’s a nationwide problem amongst EMS services,” Powell said. “It’s a constant battle and unfortunately we don’t see an increase in tax-base funding ... and we don’t see an increase in the Medicare and Medicaid funding.”

Powell said when Stanford EMS transports a patient and the patient’s insurance coverage is through a federal government program such as Medicare or Medicaid, the government gets to “mark down” Stanford’s bill and pay a lower percentage of the base rate.

Such a mark-down is called a “dis-allowment” and Stanford EMS has no control over it, Powell explained.

"Basically, they set the rate that they’re going to pay ambulances and health-care and everyone in the industry,” he said.

Stanford EMS gets some taxpayer money via the Lincoln County Ambulance Board, a special taxing district that divvies up its approximately $400,000 in annual revenues among the county’s ambulance services.

Powell said Stanford EMS is “prepared to cover the call volume that currently exists.” If call volumes continue to rise at the same pace, staffing levels will simply have to rise as well, he said.

Powell said the closure of McKinney Rescue Squad in 2013 is an “unfortunate” example of how hard it can be to keep an ambulance service open and operating on the funding sources available today, especially if you try to provide higher quality care with an advanced-life-support crew.

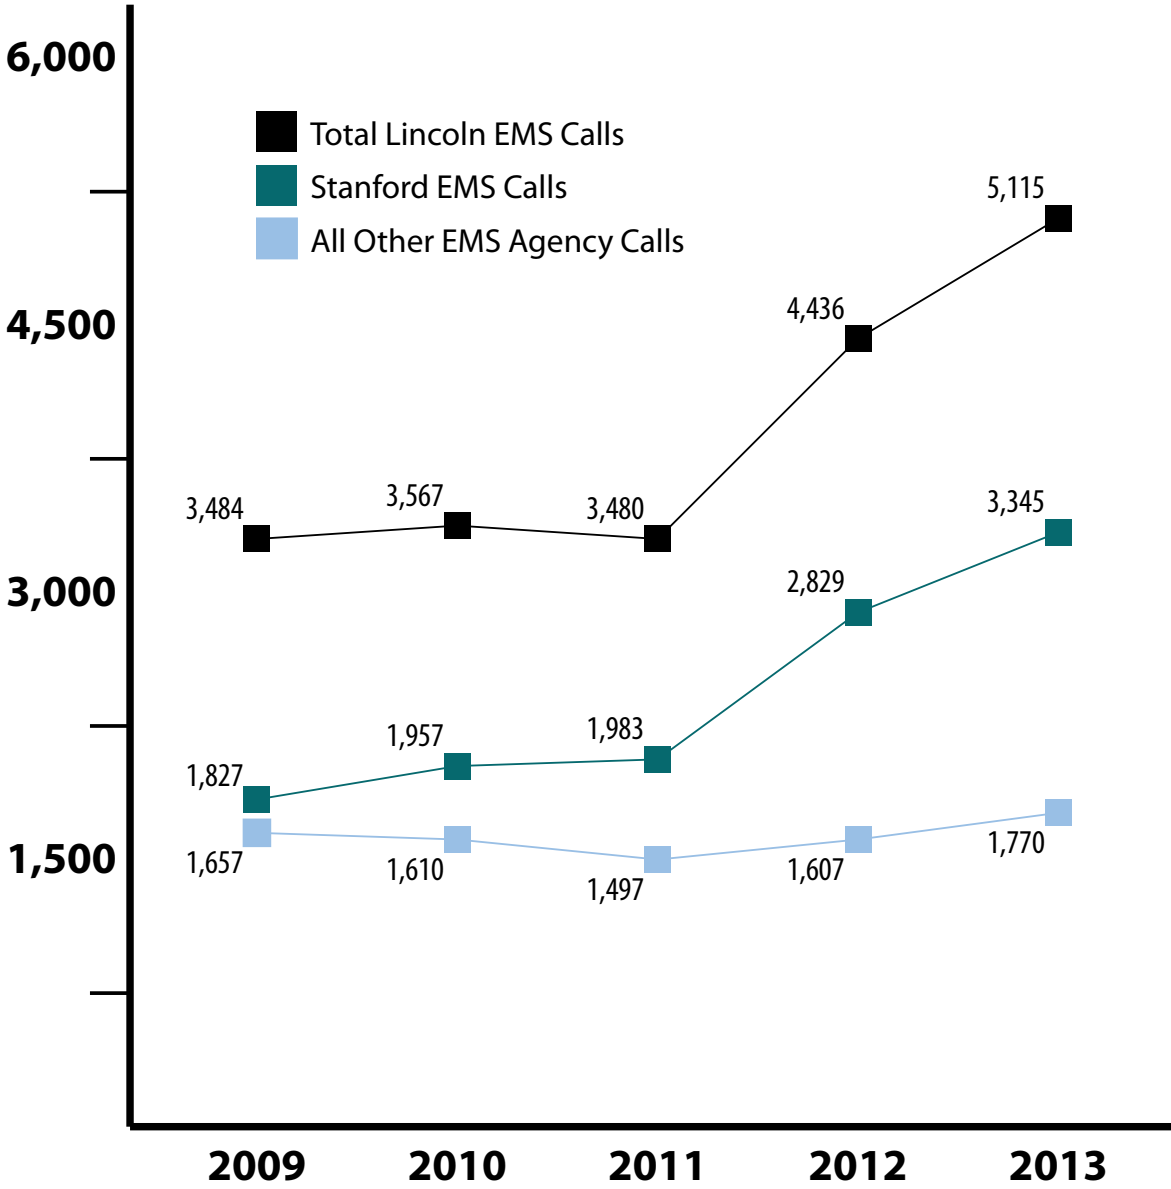

"As costs rise and your revenue doesn’t, at some point that catches up to you and creates a problem,” he said. “I think in the future it can become a problem (in Lincoln County). And it’s a nationwide problem.”

Data from Bluegrass 911 shows how many calls Lincoln County EMS agencies handled in every year since 2009.

H’ville accepts bid to repaint water tower

HUSTONVILLE — City council members have approved the low bid of $89,000 from contractor R&P to refinish the Hustonville water tower.

The upgrade will resurface the tank and install a mixing system that will help maintain high water quality.

City officials originally estimated the project could cost $100,000 or more.

Hustonville Mayor David Peyton said when the tank was built, the original finish lasted 13 years. The tank was repainted once, in 1991, and that finish has lasted now for about 23 years.

Peyton said he expects the new finishing to last for another 25-30 years.

Three other contractors bid between $100,500 and $146,000 for the project. Peyton said while R&P provided by far the lowest bid, there are no concerns about quality because the company has done “top-notch” work elsewhere in the area.

The council voted unanimously March 11 to accept R&P’s bid.

Crab Orchard raises salary for next mayor

CRAB ORCHARD — The next mayor of Crab Orchard will earn $1,200 more than the current salary if the city commission gives final approval

City Commission members voted unanimously March 6 in support of an increase in the mayoral pay-rate during the next 4-year term from $200 to $300 per month. On an annual basis, that raises the salary from $2,400 to $3,600.

A second reading of the ordinance setting the salary will be needed before the new rate, which would take effect Jan. 1, is officially on the books.

City governments such as Crab Orchard are required to set the pay-rate for each 4-year mayoral term by May 1 in the year prior to when the term begins.

In other recent Crab Orchard business, installation was completed of bleachers and players’ benches on the basketball court at the new city park. The cost was $2,000, including donations from local businesses.

Businesses in Lincoln, Boyle and Garrard counties that participate in Bluegrass Greensource’s new Partners program will be able to display the program’s logo, which program coordinator Greg Nicaise said will be developed into a brand that customers will recognize as meaning a business has undertaken environmentally friendly practices.

Bluegrass Greensource offering new ‘Partners’ program for businesses

STANFORD — A central Kentucky environmental organization wants to give businesses in Lincoln, Boyle and Garrard counties a chance to improve their environmental impacts, save some money and earn some publicity in the process.

Bluegrass Greensource Partners is a new program that will work with local businesses to find “practical and economically feasible” ways to improve environmental behaviors, such as committing to a recycling program or identifying ways to cut expenses through conservation, said Greg Nicaise, the program coordinator.

In exchange for committing to changes, Bluegrass Greensource plans to provide publicity and benefits such as free energy and waste audits for partner businesses, Nicaise said.

Partner businesses, which already include Halcomb’s Knob Bed and Breakfast and Lancaster Express Lube, will receive a blue-and-green decal to display, letting customers know they’re part of the program.

Nicaise said over time, Bluegrass Greensource hopes to develop the Partners “brand” so that customers quickly recognize the logo when they see it.

“I think the long-term vision is to expand to other counties that we serve, but for now, it’s just in these three counties,” Nicaise said.

Bluegrass Greensource hasn’t defined specific criteria for becoming a partner business because every business is different, Nicaise said. But the organization does have many suggestions for how to improve energy efficiency or conserve water and waste, he added.

“A lot of these projects, if done right, can be money-savers in the long-term,” he said.

Lancaster Express Lube has developed six ways it plans to improve how it handles old cardboard, scrap metal and dirty oil.

Halcomb’s Knob has listed 14 ways it intends to increase recycling; improve food and farming practices; and reduce energy use.

Nicaise said the real value of the program will be realized down the road. If enough businesses sign up to make a difference, the counties involved could begin to see increased revenues from recycling programs and fewer issues with waste and water quality, he explained.

Businesses interested in joining the Bluegrass Greensource Partners program can email Nicaise at greg@bggreensource.org or call the Bluegrass Greensource office in Lexington at (859) 266-1572.

Juvenile charged for 3 arsons in east Lincoln

CRAB ORCHARD — State police have charged a juvenile in connection with three arsons on the same Lincoln County road over the past six months.

The juvenile was arrested following the most recent fire along Jennings Lane in the Broughtontown area last Monday afternoon.

That fire in a mobile home was reported to emergency responders shortly after 4:30 p.m., Lincoln County Fire Chief Danny Glass said. The fire apparently originated on the porch of the mobile home, which belonged to James and Patti Jennings, Glass said.

“The entire house was eventually engulfed,” he said. “It burned for a while before anybody noticed it.”

All Lincoln County fire stations responded to the scene, but by the time firefighters extinguished the blaze, the home was a total loss, Glass said.

State police spokesman Trooper Robert Purdy said prior to Monday’s fire, a house and another trailer along Jennings Lane were involved in fires caused by arson over the last six months.

KSP Arson Investigator Pat Alford is the investigating officer.

Patriot, Lady Patriot tennis teams falter in season opener; bow to Pulaski

Hart rejoins Lincoln boys lineup

By Nancy Leedy

The Lincoln County boys tennis team fell short of serving up a victory in its tennis opener Friday, bowing 5-4 to host Pulaski County in a boy/girl doubleheader.

The Lady Patriot netters did not fare as well as their male teammates in the doubleheader, getting shut out by the Lady Maroons 9-0.

Colin Hart, Lincoln's top-seeded player, swept the competition in his return to the Patriot lineup after being homeschooled last year, winning in both singles and doubles play.

The senior netter, who is a two-time regional champion, got the boys started off with a win Friday afternoon by blanking Pulaski's Brandon Lorman 8-0 at one. Hart then teamed up with Ethan Smith in the top-seeded doubles match and the pair delivered an 8-4 win over Lorman and Brandon Matthews.

Ethan Lasure followed Hart's lead in singles by picking up a win in the third-seeded match. Lasure defeated Noah McAlpin 6-2 to earn the "W."

Pulaski took the lead in the match by denying Lincoln in the second-, fourth-, fifth- and sixth-seeded matches, as Ethan Smith, Connor Playforth, Logan Smith and Joe Johnson all went down to defeat.

Ethan Smith and Logan Smith helped to keep Lincoln in the match by redeeming themselves with wins in doubles action. Ethan notched his "W" with Hart then Logan paired up with Kade Bandura to claim victory. The Lincoln duo battled until the very end to earn the third-seed win, edging Pulaski's Josh Lockard and Cullen Morgan 7-6 in a 7-4 tiebreaker to even the teams at 4-4.

"Very good first match," Lincoln coach Allen Lewis said. "Boys were down 4-2 after singles. We won one and three doubles to even the match at 4-4. I am very proud of Kade Bandura, a sixth-grader and Logan Smith winning in the tiebreak. They knew we had to sweep the doubles to win the match and they stood strong throughout the tiebreak to get the win."

The Patriots challenged the Maroons before dropping their match. The Lady Patriots did not challenge the Lady Maroons.

Pulaski registered shutouts in five of the nine matches played and gave up only one game in a sixth match.

That's not to say that all of the Lincoln girls went down without a fight. Alyssa Turner and Brianna McKenzie took five games before falling 8-5 to Pulaski's Katherine Stockham and Holly Estes at the one-seed in doubles and Peyton Lewis and Belle Griffin picked up four wins in a 6-4 loss to Molly Smith and Kathleen Wagner at three. Lewis finished with eight games to her credit,

FARM FACTS

By Dan Grigson
Lincoln County Extension Office

Livestock producers need alfalfa

All livestock producers need to have alfalfa-grass hay and pasture fields. There are many reasons that I can use to back that statement up all of which involve you having an increase in farm income. Let's consider the reasons that should show you why you need alfalfa-grass as part of your forage program.

First of all, there isn't a better forage crop than alfalfa-grass to have in a drought. Generally in a drought alfalfa which is so deep rooted will find enough moisture to keep growing and produce 75-80 percent of its normal yield.

Another big benefit of alfalfa-orchardgrass forage is the yield it will produce. In a good growing season yields of six ton per acre are common. That is three times more than an acre of clover-grass or nitrogen fertilized grass will produce. You can't beat alfalfa-orchardgrass when it comes to producing a lot of round bales or square bales of hay. Also no other crop can produce as good of quality and quantity of grazing as alfalfa-orchardgrass. If managed properly for grazing, nothing else produces more pounds of livestock gain or milk production per acre.

Alfalfa-orchardgrass is very close to a feed that provides everything your livestock need. The energy and protein levels of alfalfa-orchardgrass hay are high enough that meat animal producers will need no or very little of any grain feeding or no need for a tub, block or lick tank. If harvested properly the feed value of alfalfa-orchardgrass will have enough protein and energy to supply all of the needs of a beef cow before and after she calves. Cows and calves grazing alfalfa-orchardgrass will result in calves weighing 100 or more pounds heavier at weaning time than those grazing grass pasture.

Stocker gains on alfalfa-grass will easily be ½ pound more per day. The same situation exists for growing goats on alfalfa grass as pasture or hay. Dairy cows will need to be fed grain to maximize production but the protein level can be lower and the amount fed will be lower. Dairy cows grazing alfalfa grass or being fed quality alfalfa hay always have higher production. Utilizing alfalfa-orchardgrass for pasture and hay will not be more expensive but rather it will be cheaper because you are not having to buy a lot of extra feed to supplement your livestock feeding.

Some folks say alfalfa-orchardgrass production requires too much work since you have to cut it so many times. Well, let's consider that you would probably cut alfalfa-orchardgrass four more times than grass hay fields. So four times more x 2 ½ days of work per cutting equals 10 days more work per year. That doesn't seem like much to me, but I even got better news for you. If you are a cow-calf producer, then all you have to do to take care of your cows' nutrition needs in the winter is to set out the hay and a free choice mineral. You don't have to carry out buckets of feed every day from 60 days prior to calving and thru 30 days after calving. I believe if you compare the hours spent on this, you will see that there is less labor in the extra hay cuttings and it's lot easier than carrying feed buckets through the mud.

Some folks say alfalfa-grass is too expensive to grow. Wrong! You can't just look at seed, fertilizer and labor costs. You have to look at the cost per pound of protein and energy that the alfalfa-grass acre produces. You will find that it is cheaper per pound of hay produced to grow the alfalfa-grass than any other crop.

The other excuse I hear is that it is too hard to get the first cutting put up right. That is true but with the wrappers we have available to rent in the county, the weather is surely not much of a factor anymore. Surely by now you are convinced to grow alfalfa-grass hay and pasture on your farm. So, now is the time to get prepared and be working toward getting alfalfa-grass sown this spring. We have the most success with seedings in the spring from March 25 to April 15. You can get good stands up into May, but crabgrass often is a competition problem for alfalfa sown in May. There are probably 30 good varieties available in the area. I would hate to see you sow the cheapest variety because they are usually lower yielding and have very little disease resistance which reduces the life of the stand. However there are some very good varieties in the mid-price range that will work well for you. The higher price varieties are the proven top yielders and are the longer lasting varieties. We have information at the Extension Office to help you choose a variety. Of course you need to take a soil sample immediately and apply fertilizer and lime accordingly. You can have good success with both conventional and no-till seeding, if you follow our guidelines.

We have good bulletins on producing alfalfa-orchardgrass for hay and pasture that will help you learn to establish and then manage the crop. I will be glad to visit with you and give you advice on adding alfalfa-grass to your forage program.

This assistance is available at the Lincoln County U.K. Extension Office located at 104 Metker Trail in Stanford, 365-2447.

Celebrate National Ag Day

USDA Kentucky Farm Service Agency (FSA) State Executive Director John W. McCauley encourages everyone to take a moment to appreciate the hard working farmers and ranchers in Kentucky on March 25, National Ag Day. This year's theme is "Agriculture: 365 Sunrises and 7 Billion Mouths to Feed."

USDA is proud to stand behind the producers who rise before dawn 365 days a year in order to put food on the table for seven billion people.

"We recognize the importance of agriculture and hope that the recent passage of a new Farm Bill is a sign that 2014 will be a 'banner year for the industry,'" said McCauley. There is no better way to show our support for farmers and ranchers than to begin implementing a new Farm Bill - legislation that will provide farmers, ranchers and consumers alike supportive results."

While the American economy is rebounding and gaining strength, the agricultural economy has remained strong and at its best. Looking ahead, the U.S. has seen a trend towards aging farmers; however, according to the recent Census of Agriculture, the nation is beginning to reverse that trend. There is an increase in the number of farmers under the age of 35.

And although the agriculture industry promises a bright future, many farmers and ranchers are still recovering from natural disasters that occurred this year, including the continuing drought. Fortunately, these producers were still able to grow the commodities that Americans rely on in order to remain a food-secure nation. Our farmers and ranchers have also continued their legacy of protecting natural resources and environmentally sensitive land through the use of conservation programs.

Please join FSA in celebrating America's farmers and ranchers - a selfless group of individuals who make up less than two percent of the world's population. They feed our country and make our nation secure. And, they supply quality foods to the rest of the world's seven billion people.

From the clothes we wear, the foods we eat, the fuel we burn and the agricultural byproducts we use daily, American agriculture adds to the quality of our lives.

None of the contributions of U.S. farmers and ranchers should be taken for granted, because no one can live without agriculture.

Ag Day is a project of the Agriculture Council of America.

Management is also responsible for the design, implementation, and maintenance of internal control relevant to the preparation and fair presentation of the financial statement that is free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.
Auditor's Responsibility
Our responsibility is to express an opinion on the financial statement based on our audit. We conducted our audit in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America, the standards applicable to financial audits contained in Government Auditing Standards issued by the Comptroller General of the United States, and the Audit Guide for Sheriff's Tax Settlements issued by the Auditor of Public Accounts, Commonwealth of Kentucky. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statement is free from material misstatement.
An audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the amounts and disclosures in the financial statement. The procedures selected depend on the auditor's judgment, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the financial statement, whether due to fraud or error. In making those risk assessments, the auditor considers internal control relevant to the entity's preparation and fair presentation of the financial statement in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the entity's internal control. Accordingly, we express no such opinion. An audit also includes evaluating the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of significant accounting estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall presentation of the financial statement. We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinions.
Basis for Adverse Opinion on U.S. Generally Accepted Accounting Principles
As described in Note 1 of the financial statement, the financial statement is prepared by the County Sheriff on the basis of accounting practices prescribed or permitted by the laws of Kentucky to demonstrate compliance with the Commonwealth of Kentucky's regulatory basis of accounting, which is a basis of accounting other than accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.
The effects on the financial statement of the variances between the regulatory basis of accounting described in Note 1 and accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America, although not reasonably determinable, are presumed to be material.
Adverse Opinion on U.S. Generally Accepted Accounting Principles
In our opinion, because of the significance of the matter discussed in the Basis for Adverse Opinion on U.S. Generally Accepted Accounting Principles paragraph, the financial statement referred to above does not present fairly, in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America, the financial position of each fund of the County Sheriff, as of April 15, 2013, or changes in financial position or cash flows thereof for the year then ended.
Opinion on Regulatory Basis of Accounting
In our opinion, the financial statement referred to above presents fairly, in all material respects, the taxes charged, credited, and paid for the period April 17, 2012 through April 15, 2013 of the Lincoln County Sheriff, in accordance with the basis of accounting practices prescribed or permitted by the Commonwealth of Kentucky as described in Note 1.
Other Reporting Required by Government Auditing Standards
In accordance with Government Auditing Standards, we have also issued our report dated November 26, 2013 on our consideration of the Lincoln County Sheriff's internal control over financial reporting and on our tests of its compliance with certain provisions of laws, regulations, contracts and grant agreements, and other matters. The purpose of that report is solely to describe the scope of our testing of internal control over financial reporting and compliance and the results of that testing, and not to provide an opinion on the effectiveness of the Lincoln County Sheriff's internal control over financial reporting or on compliance. This report is an integral part of an audit performed in accordance with Government Auditing Standards in considering the entity's internal control over financial reporting and compliance.

Respectfully submitted,

Adam H. Edelen

Educational Fund holds meeting

The Lincoln County Educational Fund celebrated its 20th annual dinner meeting on March 8. Over 50 scholars, their parents, and friends of the Fund gathered in the banquet room of First Southern National Bank.

The highlight of the evening was the update on their college careers that four scholars reported to the crowd. Jonathan Hardwick, Valerie Maynard, Kayla Lasure, and Rachael Sims represented varied majors, institutions, and years of study. The common thread was the success they have experienced in college and in their lives. The enthusiastic response to the four scholars was a clear indication of the dedication of the group to the students of Lincoln County.

Everyone was reminded that the applications for the 2014 Awards were available at both Lincoln County High School and Fort Logan High School. The Fund hopes to increase the number of awards this year.

Students learn about oral health care

Because tooth decay is the most common childhood disease, the Lincoln County Early Childhood Program works with families of their students to establish an ongoing source of preventive and primary oral health care. Program support staff assist families with acquiring appointments and transportation to appointments for examinations and follow-up treatments. When children have a healthy mouth, they can speak more clearly, eat healthy foods and feel good about their smile. Having a pain free mouth means children can better focus and learn. Brushing teeth twice daily is one of the most effective ways to prevent tooth decay, so children in the program are given the opportunity to brush their teeth each day.

This is the way we brush our teeth. . .

Giovani and Bentley, children in Mrs. Dana and Mrs. Tonya's Early Head Start Class, practice the effective way to brush.

Padgett receives 4-H Gold Award

Lincoln County 4-H would like to congratulate Kaylie Padgett of Waynesburg for her recent selection for the 4-H Gold Award in the Kentucky 4-H Achievement Program.

Of the more than 200,000 Kentucky 4-H members, only 30 were selected to receive this honor. Gold Award recipients receive a $160 scholarship to KY 4-H Teen Conference and a $750 scholarship to attend the National 4-H Congress in Atlanta, Ga., in November 2014.

This comprehensive program spans the career of 4-H members, awarding points for participation and achievement. In order to obtain the Gold Award, Kaylie had to earn 200 points, create a resume and personal PowerPoint, and interview before a panel of judges on the University of Kentucky campus.

When asked about how 4-H has impacted her life, Kaylie said, "Thanks to 4-H, I have developed precious leadership skills, advantageous public speaking abilities and a lively confidence that otherwise would be inert."

Kaylie was also selected as one of the top 10 Gold Award recipients, which means she will be competing for the coveted 4-H Emerald Award. She will interview for this award in June 2014 and if selected will be awarded a $1,000 college scholarship and a scholarship to attend the National 4-H Conference in Washington, D.C.

Also receiving 4-H Achievements from Lincoln County are:

Silver Award (150 points required, awarded $125 scholarship to 4-H Teen Conference): Lynette Sellers, J.D. Noe and Grant Sellers (District 4 Silver Award)

Bronze Award (100 points required awarded $50 scholarship to 4-H Teen Conference): Taylor Wesley

Clover Level 4 (150 points required): Victoria Noe

Stanford Christian Church

Most coaches of any major sports teams rely heavily on scouting reports and film study. The better prepared person (team) has a distinct advantage over the lesser prepared: sports, business, tests in school, etc. This truth is especially applicable to those of the Christian faith. Certainly these will be things which happen that didn't show up on the scouting report or film study. But the key to a Christian's preparation is daily nurturing – Bible reading, meditation, prayer. Then when the storms of life beat upon our house of faith, it will stand. A habit of weekly worship helps this healthy faith to happen. Come join us this Sunday at the Stanford Christian Church (next the courthouse) at 10:50 a.m. Our minister, the Rev. Mark Thompson, preaches good, Bible-based sermons which help us nurture our faith.

NOTICE OF SALE

KENNETH D. GOODIN, JR. ET AL

DEFENDANTS

FRIDAY, MARCH 28, 2014, AT 10:00 A.M.
FRONT DOOR, LINCOLN COUNTY COURTHOUSE

Pursuant to a Judgment and Order of Sale of the Lincoln Circuit Court entered October 10, 2012, in the above-styled civil action, the undersigned Master Commissioner will sell the following real property located at 12 Young Drive, Stanford, Lincoln County, Kentucky, at the front door, Lincoln County Courthouse, on Friday, March 28, 2014, at the hour of 10:00 a.m., or as soon thereafter as said property can be sold, said property being more particularly described as follows:

Being all of Lot No. 2, Section 3, of the Silver Flats Subdivision, to the City of Stanford, Lincoln County, Kentucky, as shown by plat of record in Plat Cabinet A, Slide 156, in the Lincoln County Clerk's office, to which reference is made for a more particular description of the property; the improvements thereon being known and designated as 12 Young Drive.

This being the same property acquired by Kenneth D. Goodin, Jr. and Tessa R. Goodin, his wife, by deed from William L. Fillingim Et Ux dated August 26, 2003, of record in Deed Book 338, Page 578, Lincoln County Court Clerk's Office.

The above described real property will be sold and conveyed subject to such valid and existing easements, restrictions, reservations, conditions, covenants and limitations apparent or of record in the chain of title.

The sale of the above real property will be made on a credit of thirty (30) days time with the privilege extended to the purchaser of paying the entire purchase price, or any part in excess of ten percent (10%) thereof, in cash at the time of the sale. If the sale be made on credit, the purchaser shall pay to the Master Commissioner immediately at the time of the sale ten percent (10%) of the total sale price and execute bond for the balance due in thirty (30) days, bearing interest at the rate of twelve percent (12%) per annum from the date of sale until paid, with a good and sufficient surety thereon; and the bond shall be secured by a lien upon said property sold which shall have the full force and effect of a judgment. The purchaser may pay the purchase price money due on the bond with accrued interest at any time before maturity.

The real property described herein is to be sold at the time and place stated; and shall be sold free and clear of all liens, indebtedness, interests and claims of the parties hereto, subject to any and all applicable statutory rights of redemption.

All delinquent ad valorem taxes, if any, interest and penalties will be paid out of the proceeds of said sale. The purchaser will be responsible for payment of the 2014 ad valorem taxes.

Possession of the real property will be given to the purchaser with the delivery of the deed of conveyance thereto. The purchaser will be responsible for all risks of loss to the premises upon acceptance of their bid at the time of sale.

The purpose of this sale is to satisfy the judgment of the Lincoln Circuit Court in the above-styled action in favor of Plaintiff in the sum of $88,741.50 plus interest, advances for the protection of the property, costs and attorney fees as authorized and provided in said Judgment.

For further information concerning the above sale contact: Hon. Lori R. Leach, Attorney for Plaintiff, Lerner, Sampson & Rothfuss, P.O. Box 5480, Cincinnati, OH 45201-5480, Tel. #513-241-3100.

NOTICE OF SALE

ANTHONY DENNY ET AL

DEFENDANTS

FRIDAY, MARCH 28, 2014, AT 10:00 A.M.
FRONT DOOR, LINCOLN COUNTY COURTHOUSE

Pursuant to a Judgment and Order of Sale of the Lincoln Circuit Court entered August 30, 2013, in the above-styled civil action, the undersigned Master Commissioner will sell the following real property located at 155 Brenda Road, Crab Orchard, Lincoln County, Kentucky, at the front door, Lincoln County Courthouse, on Friday, March 28, 2014, at the hour of 10:00 a.m., or as soon thereafter as said property can be sold, said property being more particularly described as follows:

BEGINNING on a double poplar approximately 20 feet from the center of a county road known as the Brenda Road; thence along the said road south 58 degrees 10 minutes west 110.6 feet to a point 15 feet from the center of the Brenda Road in the entrance to a lane; thence a fence line on the north side of land South 27 degrees 8 minutes east 420 feet to a stake in fence, a new corner to Messer; thence a new line to same north 59 degrees 56 minutes east 105 feet to a stake in field, now corner; thence a new line to Messer North 26 degrees 24 minutes west 423.7 feet to the beginning, containing 1.041 acres, D.M.D. method, so it be, more or less, by survey of S.K. Singleton, L.S. #1255 on August 6, 1974.

There is also conveyed the right to run a water line, not to exceed 6 inches, to any spring developed on the adjoining property belonging to the first parties and shall have the right to use the water from said springs on said property, right to continue for five (5) years or so long as the first parties own the adjoining property; however, in the event the water line is not developed within the five (5) years, the right shall become null and void. The right of way for said line shall not exceed five (5) feet.

This being the same property acquired by Anthony Denny and Paula Denny, his wife, by deed from Jody Martinez Et Ux dated June 4, 2001, of record in Deed Book 316, Page 161, Lincoln County Court Clerk's Office.

The above described real property will be sold and conveyed subject to such valid and existing easements, restrictions, reservations, conditions, covenants and limitations apparent or of record in the chain of title.

The sale of the above real property will be made on a credit of sixty (60) days time with the privilege extended to the purchaser of paying the entire purchase price, or any part in excess of ten percent (10%) thereof, in cash at the time of the sale. If the sale be made on credit, the purchaser shall pay to the Master Commissioner immediately at the time of the sale ten percent (10%) of the total sale price and execute bond for the balance due in sixty (60) days, bearing interest at the rate of twelve percent (12%) per annum from the date of sale until paid, with a good and sufficient surety thereon; and the bond shall be secured by a lien upon said property sold which shall have the full force and effect of a judgment. The purchaser may pay the purchase price money due on the bond with accrued interest at any time before maturity.

The real property described herein is to be sold at the time and place stated; and shall be sold free and clear of all liens, indebtedness, interests and claims of the parties hereto, subject to any and all applicable statutory rights of redemption.

All delinquent ad valorem taxes, if any, interest and penalties will be paid out of the proceeds of said sale. The purchaser will be responsible for payment of the 2014 ad valorem taxes.

Possession of the real property will be given to the purchaser with the delivery of the deed of conveyance thereto. The purchaser will be responsible for all risks of loss to the premises upon acceptance of their bid at the time of sale.

The purpose of this sale is to satisfy the judgment of the Lincoln Circuit Court in the above-styled action in favor of Plaintiff in the sum of $60,607.40 plus interest, advances for the protection of the property, costs and attorney fees as authorized and provided in said Judgment.

For further information concerning the above sale contact: Hon. John G. Irvin, Jr., Attorney for Plaintiff, Kinkead & Stilz, PLLC, 301 East Main Street, Suite 800, Lexington, KY 40507, Tel. #859-296-2300.
